Forty-Two States Will Elect Representatives Tuesday.

THREE HAVE ALREADY MADE CHOICE

A Number Will (hoose Governors and Members of Legislatures.

SAVE THE LIST FOR ELECTION NIGHT

Next Tuesday there will be an election is expected that the first district will go in forty-two states and three territories. In republican and the second democratic. Maine, Vermont and Oregon have elected state officers and representatives. Oklahoma will vote for delegate: to a constitutional convention and Arizona and New Mexico will vote separately to determine whether they will accept joint

On the 4th of next March the terms of one-third of the United States senators will expire. Of these senators fifteen are republicans and fifteen are democrats. Virginia, M'ssissippi, Kentucky, Louisiana and Arkansas have elected democrats to fill such vacrucies and Georgia has chosen a legislature that will choose aonther demoerat. Make and Oregon have legislatures that will elect republican senators. Of the twenty-two legislatures that are to be elected next Tuesday fourteen will choose successors to republican and eight suces to democratic senators.

Three hundred and eighty-six members of House of Representatives will be elected. In the present House there are a republican majority of 114. The democrats would have to gain fifty-eight in their number of representatives in order to secure a majority. Maine, Oregon and Vermont have already elected all republican Penasylvania has more state tickets than any other commonwealth. Those having tickets in the field besides the republicans and democrats are the Lincoln republicans, the Independence League, the Citizens' Commonwealth, city party, referendum, Jefferson, American, anti-administration republican and reorganized republican. Six of these parties are confined to Pennsylvania and several of them are confined to portions of that state.

In twenty-five states socialists have tickets, and in twenty-three prohibitionists are similarly represented. There are socialist labor tickets in seven states. The people's dependence League in three states. There is a public ownership party in one state. A summary of the elections to be held in each state and candidates for Congress

Alabama.

Alabama will elect a governor, a full state ticket, all members of the legis'ature and nine representatives in Congress. The state officers will be elected for four years and will be ineligible for reelection. The election of a legislature wi'l not cause any senatorial contest, as Representative John H. Bankhead and Joseph E. Johnson have en designated at a primary election to fill senatorial vacancies as they occur. It elius will remain in the Senate during their lives. There are two republican state tickets, one being put up by the lily whites. A 1 democratic representatives will elected. Candidates for Congress: First district-Dem., G. W. Taylor, re-

First district-Rep., R. W. Bonynge, renominated; dem., C. F. Tew. Second district—Rep., W. A. Haggott; dem., W. W. Rowan.

Connecticut.

The entire state ticket and the legislature vill be elected. Mr. Thayer, the democratic candidate for governor, is an advocate of municipal ownership, and is frequently spoken of as the Hearst of Connecticut. His campaign was not so vigorous as was expected. Five representatives will be elected. Both Mr. Gompers and Mr. Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor have visited the state in the interest of Mr. Donohue, the democratic opponent of Representative 25. republicans and 136 democrats, giving Lilley, and an effort has been made to have the labor vote cast against Mr. Lilley. The ent're delegation is now republican. Mr. Lilley's re-election is regarded as doubtful.

The candidates for Congress: At large—Rep., G. L. Lilley, renominated; dem., C. J. Donobue. First district-Rep., E. S. Henry, renomi-nated; dem., D. M. Holden. Second district-Rep., N. D. ### Illinois.

Twenty-five members of Congress, a legisature and minor state officials will be elected. The legislature will elect a successor to Senator Shelby M. Cullom, who has been designated by a primary election for the senatorship. Only one of the twentyfive districts is now democratic, that being the twentieth district. Four districts, the third, fourth, fifth and eighth, are regarded as doubtful by the democrats. In Cook county what is known as a "Hearst ticket" has been put up for all offices, this being in-dependent of the democratic ticket. It is expected to weaken the democratic candidates. There are prohibitionist and socialist tickets in several congressional districts. The American Federation of Labor has made a vigorous fight against Speaker Cannon in the eighteenth district, and they claim the district is doubtful. Candidates for Congress: First district—Rep., M. B. Madden, re-nominated; dem., Martin Emerick. Second district—Rep., J. R. Mann, renomi-nated; dem., H. J. Friedman. Third district-Rep., W. W. Wilson, re-cominated; dem., Paul E. Dratz; pro., S. T. Regan.

Indiana. Minor state officers and a legislature will be elected. The legislature will not elect United States senator, but the hold-over members will form a part of the body that will choose a successor to Senator James A. Hemenway, whose term will expire March 3, 1909. Of the thirteen congressional districts in Indiana all but two, the third and fourth, are now republican. A strong fight is being made by the democrats in the first, second, sixth, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and thirteenth districts. Candidates for Congress:

Iowa. Iowa will elect a state ticket, a legislature that will choose a successor to Senator Dolliver and eleven representatives. The first and second districts are normally democratic, although two years ago they elected republicans. The republican candidates will probably be defeated. The sixth district is doubtful, with about equal chances for the two candidates. In this district Mr acey is running for his tenth term. In the eighth district Col. Hepburn, the veteran has strong opposition, and while he had a plurality of 12,000 two years ago he probably pull through with a small ma jority. The other districts will be republi

Governor Cummins and Claude R. Porter lemocrat, are contesting the election for the governorship. Governor Cummins is having trouble with the soldier and the prohibition vote and is opposed by the railroads. Porte has a record as an anti-railroad man, but is being supported by the railroads. The republican majority in the legislature is apt to be reduced. If the legislature is republican Senator Dolliver will be re-elected for another term. Candidates for

Kentucky.

The congressional elections in Kentucky will be affected by the primary elections that are to be held at the same time, and which are expected to bring out a very large vote. At the primary election the people will choose a successor to Senator McCreary. Mr. McCreary is himself a candidate, as is Gov. J. C. M. Beckham. Mr Beckham is the recognized leader of the democratic organization of the state, which will give him some advantage in the race Mr. McCreary's term will not expire before March 3, 1909, but the primary election will be recognized as binding upon the legis lature. This is the first time this system for governor and other state officers, al-though their election will not take place this year.

eleventh district is the only one the democrats concede to the republicans, that district being made up of republican counties. In addition to that the third, fifth and ninth districts are regarded as doubt-ful. The ninth and eleventh districts are now represented by republicans, all other districts being democratic. The democrats are counting upon the party interest attend ing the primary election to bring out a large vote to assist them in these elections. The republicans are working vigorously in order to carry them, and express confidence in success. Two years ago the third district was carried by a democratic majority of only 100. The fifth district went demoeratic by a plurality of 1,433, and a major-Congress:

The first, second and fourth districts are now democratic, and the third, fifth and sixth are republican. The contest in the first district between Jackson, republican, and Smith, democrat, is of especial interest, as the incumbent, Representative Smith, was elected by a plurality of but 510, the elec-tion being contested by Mr. Jackson, who claimed that a fair count would have given him a majority of 1,600 or more. In the second district Garrett is waging a vigorous campaign against Talbott, and his friends caim that he will be elected. The election in the fifth district is also of especial interest, as Representative Mudd is running against George M. Smith, demoerat, who has the support of the American Federation of Labor. Two years ago Mr. Mudd had a majority of 3.134 over R. S. Hill, his democratic opponent. The first, econd and nith districts are regarded as

Michigan.

Michigan will elect twelve members of the House of Representatives and a legislature that will choose a successor to Senator Alger, who has announced that he will not again be a candidate for senatorial honors. The candidates for the senatorship are W. C. McMillan, a son of the late Senator McMillan; Arthur Hill, a millionaire lumberman; Representative Charles Townsend and Representative Wm. Alden Smith. The struggle for the senatorship has made tremendous fight in the primary elections for the legislature. The result of the contest up to the present time has been to show that it is anybody's fight. In the case of Mr. William Alden Smith, however, while he had developed great strength in the western section of the state, it is undertood he has no expectation of remaining is the contest as an unwritten law provides that one senator shall come from the east-ern section and the other from the western section of the state. Alger is from the eastern section, as are all the other candidates except Smith. But his strength in fight for Senator Burrows' seat two years hence, as Burrows is from the western part of the state.

New York. The election in New York this fall is for the full legislative ticket, governor and full state ticket, twenty-five judges of the supreme court, elected for a term of fourteen years each; county tickets and representatives in Congress. Charles E. Hughes is the candidate of the republicans for governor and William R. Hearst the candidate of the democrats and the independence league. The democrats and the league have also united on many candilates for Congress and other offices, while in New York city the league and the democrats are running opposing candidates for some minor offices. Strong contests are being made in the first, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, thirteenth, fifteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twenty-third, twenty-fourth, twenty-seventh and thirty-second districts.

Party lines are badly demoralized, many old-line democrats bolting their ticket and advocating the election of Hughes; while, on the other hand, it is claimed that a portion of the labor vote heretofore republican is indorsing Hearst. The paign has been very acrimonious and full paign has been very acrimonious and full of personalities. Candidates for Congress:

North Dakota.

North Dakota will elect two members of Congress, a legislature and a full state ticket. Senator Hansbrough's term will not expire until 1909, but the hold-over senators to be elected this year will vote for his successor. Both congressional districts are safely republican. Candidates for At large-Reps. T. F. Marshall, renominated, and A. J. Gronna, renominated; dems., J. D. Benton and A. G. Burr.

Ohio. Ohio will elect twenty-one representatives in Congress, a secretary of state, a member of the board of public works and school commissioners. The senatorial situation in Ohio will not be affected by this election. Senator Foraker's term will not expire until 1909 and that of Senator Dick will end in 1911. Of the twenty-one members of the Ohio delegation in the Fifty-ninth Congress only one, Representative Garber of the fourth district, is a democrat. But the fifth, thirteenth and the seventeenth districts are normally democratic and are likely to return democratic members. The ing ground, and democrats claim that they will win in them. The republicans do not concede such claims, however. The eleventh district is represented in Congress by Gen. Grosvenor. should be held on the 6th of November, couple of months ago Senator Tillman was at which delegates to a constitutional con- indorsed for United States senator to sucvention should be chosen, together with ceed himself and members of the legisla-two representatives, a legislature and a ture were nominated. There is some quesfull state ticket. After this election the constitutional convention will meet and legislature so nominated and to be elected will frame a constitution, which must be submitted to the people at a special election for their approval. After that is done the President of the United States is to be notified of the action and is to be fur-nished with a regularly certified copy of to provide for local option throughout the the constitution adopted. Within twenty days thereafter he is to issue a proclamation declaring Oklahoma to be a state. As soon as the presidential proclamation has been issued all state officials will exercise together and will proceed to the election of must clapse before these formalities can be complied with. The representative elected will take his seat in the House as soon as the President's proclamation has been issued. Candidates for Congress: First district-Rep., B. S. Maguire, for Oregon. The election for congressmen in Oregon was held during the past summer. A state ticket and a legislature were also chosen A primary election held at the same time favored the election of Jonathan Bourne as United States senator in place of Sen-ator John M. Gearin, who was appointed by the governor December 13, 1905, to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Senator John H. Mitchell, who had been elected to fill the term, expiring March 3,

The state was carried by the republican representatives: First district-Rep., W. C. Hawley, state officers and for the entire legislature, in addition to the election of thirty-two members of Congress. Of the fifty state hold over and will form a part of the legislature that will choose a successor to Senator Penrose. The opponents of Senator Penrose, both in and out of the republican party, have worked hard in order to elect men who can be depended upon to vote against him. But the fact that so tew memoers of the legislature will boo over has made it difficult to get up an important campaign against him.

The contest for state officers has been waged with great energy. On the one hand the republicans have a ticket headed by Mr. Edwin S. Stuart for governor, and the democrats and Lincountes, the apparty being composed of a faction of re publicans opposed to the "machine," have fused on a state ticket headen by Mr. Louis Emery, jr., formerly a republican, and with democrats filling the other important slaces on the ticket. The fusionists have the assistance of the city party in Phila town unside down when the alleged corrupt plan for a long extension of the lease munic pal gas plant by the machine drove the latter out of power and gave the city party, headed by Mayor Weaver, full control of Philadelph'a. Political complications have recently estranged Weaver from some of als former in of forces so that the fusionists will not get as much support from the city party for their candidates as they expected early Stuart's election will be regarded as a victory for Penrose, although Stuart will receive the support of a large faction in the party that is not friendly to the sen ator. A sweeping republican victory of the state will assist in the election of a leg-islature two years hence that will be friendly to the reelection of Penrose. Speaker Cannon, Chairman Sherman and Senator Knox have all spoken strongly is favor of the election of the republican state ticket as well as the republican can didates for Congress. The democrats claim eight doubtful con gressional districts in Pennsylvania. Three districts—the second, formerly represented by Adams the third, formerly represented by Castor, and the twelfth, formerly rep resented by Patterson-have new men con testing the election. The second and third districts are republican. The twelfth was carried by a republican majority of 5,414 years ago, but the democrats are claiming that they will secure a heavy vote there. Other districts claimed by them are the sixth, represented by Mc-Creary; the tenth, by Dale; the eleventh by Palmer; the fourteenth, by Lilley; tha sixteenth, by Samuel; the twentieth, Lafean, and the twenty-sixth, by Schnee-beli. The thirteenth is democratic The republicans claim that all districts are safely for their cand dates except the thirteenth, sixteenth, twentieth and twenty-sixth, all of which are regarded as nor mally democratic. Representative Kline of the thirteenth is the only democrat in the present Congress. The sixteenth and the sixth districts war the Fifty-eighth Congress, and the twentieth, while electing a repaired to the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-nith Congresses gave Patterson a majority of over 3,000 when he was elected governor and is regarded as normally democratic. The first district of Rhode Island is doubtful and the second is republican. A legislature will be elected and will choose a sucessor to Senator Wetmore. The senatorship is not settled, but Mr. Wetmore will probably be re-elected. Candidates for Congress: First district-Rep., Elisha Dyer; dem. D. L. D. Granger, renominated.

Second district-Rep., A. B. Capron, re-nominated; dem., L. F. C. Gavin. South Carolina.

South Carolina will elect a state ticket, a legislature and seven representatives. The chief issue involved in the state campaign has been the liquor law. Senator Tillman has continued to advocate his dispensary The enabling act forming the territories system for the sale of liquor and a strong of Oklahoma and Indian Territory into a faction of his party has favored local opstate provided that a general election tion. At the primary elections held a November 6 will favor the dispensary system or the local option system, but it has been claimed that the dispensary system has been beaten at the polls and that the state. The feeling against Senator Tillman on account of his state dispensary law was so great that 15 or 20 per cent of the voters at the primary election, when he was chosen for the senatorship to succeed himself, scratched his name. The nominees for the legislature chosen by the primary election will all be elected, as the work of the primary is accepted as final. The delegation of South Carolina in the House of Representatives is now solidly democratic. In the seventh district, however, a republican will contest the election, and hope is entertained by the republicans of that district that he will be elected. All of the present members of the House from South Carolina were renominated. First district-Dem., G. S. Legare, re-Second district-Dem., J. O'H.
